DRIVE-IN BARBERS

Nonchalant and with that business-as-usual expression at his tongue tip, Frank Avant gives a haircut to young Frank Wilson after an auto drove into his Indianapolis barber shop. The driver apparently didn't want a haircut, nor even his slightly bruised car. He walked away after the crash and police are still seeking him.

Ex-Kelowna Policeman Rescues Drowning Boy

A Kelowna man who spent eight years in the RCMP is to be credited with saving the life of an unidentified six-year-old boy at Wood Lake on Sunday, it was revealed today.

Patrick Gurr, now employed with a city auto firm, said he was picnicking at the lake with his family and brother-in-law Arthur Perry of Vancouver when the near-drowning occurred.

Gurr said that he and Perry spotted six boys playing on a raft some 50 yards from shore but at first "didn't pay too much attention to it."

He said he became quite concerned however five minutes later when Perry noticed that five of the boys had left the raft, leaving the younger one to himself and evidently stranded.

"The boy attempted to leave the raft but appeared to be in trouble so I ran down the beach about 200 yards and swam out to find the youngster going down quite fast."

Gurr said he snapped the boy up in his arms and swam back to shore where he and Perry applied artificial respiration for some 25 minutes.

The former policeman said they heard no cries for help or noises of any kind to give any indication the boy was drowning.

"It was just a lucky thing we happened to spot it. Only a few seconds longer and it would have been too late."

Gurr said it took some time to locate the parents of the boy who were further down the beach.

BCE Move 'Forced' By Tax Policy

Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia said Monday in Moncton, N.B., his Social Credit government had to expropriate the B.C. Electric Company because the federal government refused to rectify the unfair situation whereby it collected a corporation tax of 50 per cent on all the company's profits.

The vacationing premier said: "This was putting our province at an unfair advantage in relation to most of the other provinces, where power distribution is publicly owned."

"Our ability to attract new industry was hampered because power costs are cheaper in these other provinces since they don't have to pay this tax to Ottawa."

Slumbering P.G. Fire Bursts Into Sudden Attack On Two Sawmills

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — A fighting operations. No measurable rain has been recorded since July 28.

Showers fell in the hard-hit Prince Rupert district, but were too light to have any beneficial effect, said Forestry Information Officer Terig Jones in Smithers.

Two fires covering more than 20,000 were burning in the district, but foresters have turned their attention to a 2,000-acre blaze on the Yukon border.

A 22-man crew was flown in to attack the Little Rancheria River blaze which was ripping through prime spruce estimated to yield 15,000 board feet an acre.

There are 41 fires in the district. Forestry officials were awaiting a report on the seriousness of a blaze at Tsus, 40 miles east of Prince George, which was thought to have gained new stamina.

In the Kamloops district, where there have been 852 fires, firefighting costs total $341,000. More than 100 fires now are burning in the district at present.

The Vancouver district, which includes Vancouver Island, reported 52 fires and a rapidly-increasing hazard. There are only 21 fires in the Nelson district.

CHEDDI JAGAN ... victory

Fidel Fan Victor In Br. Guiana

GEORGETOWN British Guiana (AP) — Cheddi Jagan, a Marxist admirer of Fidel Castro promising a foreign policy of active neutralism, was returned to power for four more years today in Britain's only South American colony.

Returns from Monday's general election gave Jagan's Communist-leaning People's Progressive Party 19 of the 35 seats in the new legislature, and at least two of the five unreported constituencies were expected to be added to the 43-year-old East Indian majority.

The Negro-dominated People's National Congress led by Forbes Burnham won nine seats and Peter d'Aguiar's Conservative, anti-Communist United Force won two.

Britain ousted a government headed by Jagan in 1953, charging that he was planning to establish a Communist beachhead on South America's north coast flanking the Panama Canal.

In elections in 1957 the PPP won nine of the 14 legislative council seats and Jagan became minister of industry, a post equivalent to premier, under British governor Sir Ralph Grey.

RECENT VERNON VISITOR

Fighting Engineer New Chief Of Canada's Army

OTTAWA (CP) — Tall, husky Maj.-Gen. Geoffrey Walsh, a fighting engineer who likes to think no task is impossible, has been appointed Canada's new army chief.

Gen. Walsh, 52-year-old general officer commanding Western Command, Edmonton, was promoted Monday to chief of the general staff, climaxing a distinguished military career.

He is known by many in the Okanagan. Last week he visited the Vernon Cadet Camp, and after attending the cadet tattoo, Wednesday, was guest of honor at a reception given in the Vernon Army Camp Officers' Mess, at which he met many dignitaries from Kelowna, Vernon and other centres.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, announcing the appointment, said Gen. Walsh will begin his new duties in Ottawa Oct. 1, succeeding Lt. - Gen. Samuel Finlay Clark.

Gen. Clark, 52-year-old Winnipeg native known through the ranks as "Fin," takes on a $20,000-a-year assignment as chairman of the National Capital Commission—the federal agency responsible for the long-term development of Canada's capital and surrounding district.

Assuming his new post at a time when Canada is urgently reviewing her defences, Gen. Walsh combines more than 30 years' experience as an expert military engineer with an impressive record in the Second World War.

WENT TO SPITZBERGEN In a career which has taken him to Spitzbergen and China, Gen. Walsh rose to be chief engineer of the 1st Canadian Army overseas during the war. He has been commanding officer in Edmonton since July 1, 1959.

In 1941 he led Canadian troops ashore in the bloodless raid on Spitzbergen, 600 miles from the North Pole. A major, commanding the 3rd field company of the Royal Canadian Engineers, he directed demolitions, including burning of the coal mines, dumping fuel into the sea and other measures to deny the base to the Germans.

Later, in Sicily, he won the Distinguished Service Order. He organized engineering work to keep tawing roads to the European front open day and night—a job involving thousands of men and hundreds of vehicles.

He recalls he used to tell his men: "Think how can it be done—not why should it be done."

On return to North America, he organized the Alaska Highway system for Canada's takeover from the United States. A keen angler, he's inclined to enthuse about the days at Whitehorse and the fighting trout he found in the cold waters of Yukon lakes and rivers.

Sequel To Late-Night Crash In Which Three Were Hurt

Thirteen-year-old Adelle Weddell of Kelowna is being flown to Vancouver today following a two-car collision at Okanagan Mission Monday night, in which she was seriously hurt.

Three occupants of the two cars were hospitalized Monday night shortly before 10 p.m. when the collision occurred at DeHart and Lakeshore Rd. The two cars were driven by minors, Trevor Tupman, 16, and Donald Pettman, 16, both of Kelowna.

In hospital also are Margaret Trump, 15, of 1875 Abbott St., and Sheryl Spencer, 14, 1 Meikle Ave. Both girls' parents report they are in satisfactory condition.

Adelle, who lives at 578 Cadder Ave., is being flown to a Vancouver hospital to be near specialists, her father said today. No hospital report could be obtained.

The three girls were occupants of a small, foreign model car driven by Trevor Tupman. Each car reportedly had five occupants. None of the passengers of the second vehicle were injured.

No estimate of damage to the cars was available today. RCMP today declined to add to this information. No indication of whether charges would be laid was given.

Mission Creek is about five miles south of Kelowna. Cause of the accident has not been reported.

Crowds Cheer Greetings For Adenauer In Berlin

CP from Reuters-AP

BERLIN—Crowds of East Berliners cheered Konrad Adenauer today as the West German chancellor toured the barricaded border between East and West Berlin.

Communist loudspeaker trucks blasted attacks against Adenauer on two occasions but tensed "people's police" were unable to prevent excited East Berliners from gathering to wave at him.

A police cordon held back a large crowd of Communist-zone residents in the Brunnenstrasse, about 500 yards from the Brandenburg Gate, but the East Berliners recognized Adenauer's motorcade and began cheering and waving handkerchiefs.

The chancellor toured the sector border shortly after he arrived from Bonn with a promise that West Germany will use its "full political and oral power" to preserve the freedom of West Berliners in coming negotiations with Russia.

In the Potsdamer Platz, junction of the Soviet, U.S. and British sectors, Communist loudspeaker taunts referred to Adenauer as "Dear Konny" and said his "serious face" recalled the rages of Adolf Hitler.

PLAY MUSIC At the Brandenburg Gate another truck played a Western hit tune as Adenauer drove up for a look at the closed crossing point. The truck boomed out an ironic welcome: "You come late, Mr. Chancellor, we have acted in the meantime."

About 200 yards behind the gate scores of the East Berliners—some armed with binoculars—gathered. Police and East German soldiers ordered them to move on but few left the scene.

At the International Air Transport Association, looking through the mass of regulations covering flights over various countries, discovered this one buried in Canada's rules:

"No person shall enter or attempt to enter any aircraft in flight."

Nobody knows why the regulation came into being, said an official of IATA who shrugged: "Ever try it?"

TEACHERS MEET

Pre-School Education Study Urged By Group

VERNON (Staff) — A Department of Education study of pre-school education possibilities was urged Monday at the B.C. Teachers' Federation 12th annual workshop.

L. H. Garstin, principal of McKim Junior High School of Kimberley, told more than 100 B.C. teachers "... too many people are inclined to believe that formal schooling between six and 13 or 18 can perform miracles. This is sheer nonsense."

He said: "We do a good deal to encourage parents to attend pre-natal classes as a means of ensuring the production of physically healthy babies. I do not note the same concern to establish and encourage parents to attend post-natal classes designed to insure the development of healthy intellects and emotions. The school cannot do it."

Mr. Garstin and Chant Commission member H. P. Walrod of Kelowna were part of four speakers Monday in the first day of the week-long workshop in the Vernon Preparatory School.

Mr. Garstin on the Crowther report on education in England which was focused on improving the education of the masses and less-gifted students, and apart from a program for parents to instruct tots in home before they reach school age, Mr. Garstin suggested:

Teachers need to be more fully aware of the sociological as well as psychological problems of children from lower socio-economic groups.

SORE THUMBS
There is a need for better facilities for detection and treatment of sociological, psychological and emotional problems of children at the primary school level.

"Too often they are either not recognized or, if recognized, are not treated until they begin to stick out like sore thumbs at the age of puberty."

He said he was "all for" specially trained counsellors for the elementary schools to deal with these problems.

There is a need for adequate psychological and social welfare services to which schools could refer cases detected.

He said he was pleased to see that the Vancouver Secondary Teachers' Association supported an expansion of welfare services "..." I would have been still more pleased if the stand had come from elementary teachers as it would have revealed their awareness of the widespread need of these services at the elementary school level."

There is need for greater emphasis on adult education as part of an overall educational program. He referred specifically to the record of Vancouver high schools.

"In short, what I am proposing is that the job of raising the educational level of the masses should be a joint task involving lost $15,700,000 in the first half of this year? Reuther says Chrysler's woes could be blamed on pre-school educational agencies, the public schools themselves, adult education agencies and social welfare agencies."

"The Department of Education must raise its sights towards a broader definition of education and be prepared to accept responsibilities beyond organization of education of the public school system."

A WARNING
And he added a warning: "It would be foolish from the point of view of the stability of western society to limit education narrowly to vocational skills."

"We do not want a nation of peoples capable only of narrow, ly-conceived mechanical and technical skills and cut off from the common cultural heritage by a too-limited literacy."

Mr. Walrod discussed some aspects of Chant Commission members' thinking in making their final recommendations.

He said the commission's emphasis on intellectual development among others, had drawn criticism from some quarters "though we never expected it would be universally accepted."

"The type of criticism seems to depend largely on 'whose ox is gored,' he commented wryly. The workshop continued today with group discussions. A smorgasbord supper and picnic will be held tonight at Kin Beach.

Group discussions will follow each day to the wind-up evaluation session at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Workshop director is Stan Evans, assistant general secretary of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Parish Of Lumby Grieves Death Of Mrs. F. Jenkins

LUMBY (Correspondent) — Children of the Anglican Parish have lost a good friend with the death of Mrs. Frederick John Jenkins. She died Wednesday after a long illness.

Mrs. Jenkins (nee Edith Anne Kitcher) was born on Dec. 8, 1894 at Beaulieu, Hampshire, England, and she and Mr. Jenkins were married at Dover in 1925. They had three children.

In 1947 they decided to come to Canada and arrived in Vernon on Christmas afternoon.

They settled on a farm about one mile north of Lumby and from here the family married and established their own homes.

In 1955 their son, John, was killed in a logging accident. In 1954 Mrs. Jenkins became superintendent of the Anglican Sunday School when ill health forced Mrs. P. C. Inglis to resign. She continued to hold this position until in 1959 ill health also forced her to step aside. But she continued to teach.

She was president of the Anglican Guild for 2½ years until she had to leave for the Coast and her first session of surgery.

She joined the Pythian Sisters in 1949 and here she held office also. She was a member of the degree staff drill team that marched in competition in Penticton and won the Rose Lovell Shield.

She was one of the founders of the Lumby Old Age Club, and was former secretary of the club.

As Mrs. Andrew Hankey put it, "she always gave of herself, thinking and helping others despite her own illness."

She is survived by her husband; one son Tony of Vernon; a daughter, Mrs. Malcolm MacDonald (Babs) of Vancouver, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday at St. James the Less Anglican Church, Lumby, with the Rev. E. S. Somers officiating.

Palbearers were M. Adam, K. Johnson, J. Martin, T. Roland, R. Saunders and T. Tull. Burial was in the Lumby cemetery.

Sir Winston Sick? Not A Bit Of It!

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, who arrived here Monday to begin a two-week vacation, was taking a leisurely breakfast in his hotel suite today when suddenly the hotel switchboard was flooded with anxious calls.

In London there was a rumor that the British statesman had died. At first, Churchill's secretary, and then the Hotel de Paris switchboard operators took the calls, giving the same answer to the same question: "The rumor was false, and Sir Winston was feeling fit."

REMEMBER WHEN ...
Johnny Johnston of Vancouver edged Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., one up in the final of the Canadian amateur golf championship two years ago today at Vancouver's Marine Drive course. Cowan was also the runner-up last year, but last week the Kitchener player made it on his third attempt, winning the amateur title at Edmonton with a victory over Ted Homeniuk of Winnipeg in the final.

MORE TEXTILES
Canadians are among the world's largest users of textiles at a per capita rate about three times the world average.

PROPOSAL LIMITED
Reuther says the profit-splitting proposal of American Motors Corporation doesn't go far enough. AMC offered it as a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

In 1958, Reuther made profit-sharing his No. 1 goal and called it profit-sharing. He didn't get it.

AMC offered July 28 to split 10 per cent of its profits, after taking the first 10 per cent for stockholders. It also offered a seven-cent hourly pay increase annually during the next three years, but proposed to freeze all fringe eliminate automatic wage increases built into current contracts.

Reuther asked as the union's "fair share" in 1958 for 25 per cent of the profits left after 10 per cent was set aside for stockholders. He demanded that customers also get 25 per cent in the form of rebates and stockholders would get the rest.

This time Reuther is demanding "economic justice" for production workers out of what he terms "the profitability" of General Motors and Ford.

COULD MEET DEMANDS
He contends those two could meet all UAW demands, but car prices at the same time and still have more profit left than the average of 9.5 per cent manufacturers firms in the United States earned on investment in 1960.

Canning Process Is Easy To Those Who Know It

Many people have, no doubt wondered how it is possible to seal preserves into cans without the use of a welding torch. If such a torch were used, there would not be the profusion of canned goods we have on grocery shelves today—and yet, when the problem of opening a can comes around, it must seem as if some kind of mental joining has been used.

Monday, the Courier found out how it is done by visiting Rowell's Canning Company Limited, which serves Kelowna and district. It is done by folding the lids on under steam pressure.

The steam, inside the can, condenses and in turn creates a vacuum. Which explains not only why it is such a hard job getting the lid of a can off if you haven't a proper opener, but why, whenever you do open a tin, there is a "whoosh" sound accompanying it.

At this moment, Rowell's happened to be starting on the local peach crop, and manages to process about 20 tons of them each day.

It's a long, tandem process. First, the peaches on arrival are sent to several women who skin them, halve them, and take out the pits. This is a longer operation than one would imagine. Skinning, for instance, employs 26 women; halving employs 18.

Those peaches which arrive with one side or section not quite up to standard are shunted on to one side, the good parts to be sliced off—hence sliced peaches in cans—and the sub-standard parts to be destroyed.

COOKED AND SEALED

After the lids are put on, the tins are racked up onto dollies and slid into retorts resembling the open maws of huge furnaces. Here, they are cooked. Time of cooking depends entirely upon which fruit or vegetable happens to be in the can. It is never for very long, however, because of the intense, germ-killing heat which is used. And since the tin is hermetically sealed, all the goodness remains.

Labelling is, because of the accuracy involved, necessarily the slowest operation of all. Even at the comparative slow-down at this point, however, efficiency is the watchword.

For it is here that the daily count of how many tons is made—and 20 tons per day is no mean count.

SOME STORED

Some of the canned goods are stored away in the cool recesses of the packinghouse; others, railway carloads of them, go all points of Canada; and many are shipped right to stores and homes in Kelowna.

The question was asked: "How do you tell what's in a can if the label comes off?"

"That's easy," said the plant superintendent. "Every canning company has its own code stamped right into the tin. This one here, for instance, has 21AH on it. That means it was packed on the 21st of August, and 'H' means the kind of peach that is in it. We take practically all the alphabet and many numbers to fit our code in this way."

And that's the story of where canned goods come from, and how they are brought to your table.

JUST WARMED UP TO THE HUMOR

BARRIE (CP)—Two boys chuckled as they left a campsite near where they had let the air out of about 50 automobile tires on campers' cars Saturday night.

Their sense of humor evaporated when police constable Allan Martin caught them. Martin handed them two aged hand pumps. "Pump 'em up again," he ordered.

As dawn came over the camp several hours later, campers awoke and grinned sleepily as the boys still pumped and puffed.

Finally, all tires in shape again, the boys were allowed to leave.

Many 'Skinned Alive' In Congo

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (Reuters)—Premier Moise Tshombe of Katanga province today presented foreign consuls here with a government document on alleged atrocities by Baluba tribesmen in the Congo.

The opposition Balubakata party tried to set up an independent state in northern Katanga earlier this year.

Community Chest Goes Full Speed Year Round

JOHN DYCK
... Manager

An ambitious backlog of effort since May may mean that Community Chest will succeed in going above and beyond its stated objective of $30,550 this year.

Committees working on various angles of the united appeal campaign have been actively plotting this year's campaign. Work of a year's campaign gets under way in May with a real bang, but really begins as soon as a year's campaign is finished.

Taking full advantage of the toasty split in the year, this year's committees have been pushing United Appeal under a banner of "new approach."

By informing the public why Community Chest is organized and what it does, CC hopes to show precisely why the service it gives is absolutely vital.

One method used in the public education process has been and continues to be speeches to public organizations, service clubs, etcetera.

BANQUET PLANNED

Chamber of Commerce "look the initiative" to organize a post-banquet this year. All weeks this year.

Community minded people are expected to attend this supper Dyck said that the organizers hope to have all payroll deductions finalized prior to the actual canvassing.

Frank Williams is in charge of a high-level committee for payroll deductions this year, and a few new innovations in methods have been spearheaded by him.

Many people wonder about how final allotments are arrived at and how the final objective is tallied, said Mr. Dyck. He explained, saying a committee is constantly checking member organizations' activities and gauging how important their services are.

It checks use of funds provided by the united appeal campaign.

RESPONSIBILITY OF ALL

"It is the responsibility and privilege of citizens in Kelowna to assist the many people who through misfortune and handicaps had their incomes curtailed," says campaign manager John Dyck.

Community Chest exists to plan and organize the welfare services of the City and District of Kelowna, to study community needs and resources and to promote social improvements.

Its nationally coordinated united appeal campaign gives multiple impetus to publicity.

A new pledge card this year provides a receipt, tells the donor exactly where his donation is going, and allows him to specify where his donation will go.

It provides five different ways of making a donation: single cash payment, post-dated cheque, regular deductions from bank account, payroll deductions and pledge to send a donation at the donor's own specified intervals.

All is in preparedness for the campaign, says John Dyck, campaign manager, "except a few loose ends."

The local Community Chest has plans to offer a United Appeal challenge cup for the whole Okanagan Valley.

An inter-city meeting later this month will finalize the challenge cup agreement.

16 GROUPS BELONG

Sixteen organizations belong to united appeal.

Mr. Dyck says this statistic tells the whole story: that 15, 16 organizations banded together to see that public subscription to their efforts is distributed evenly and fairly.

Subscriptions have fallen short of the objective for the past few years.

But directors of this year's campaign are confident that this year's appeal will reward their efforts by going over the top.

Tire-Squealing Hoods Disturb Sleep Of Tourists

Motel and auto court owners in Kelowna, especially those on Vernon Road, are pressing for a ghost car to patrol Shops Capri parking lot in an effort to quiet noisy late-night motorists.

A letter to council, the second identical complaint received this year from this group, said the main source of trouble comes from patrons of A & W Root Beer, and from the beer parlor patrons and motorists cruising the lot.

They claimed that many tire-squealers and horn-blowers are disturbing to patrons of their motels.

Alderman Jack Treadgold said he was "surprised that it came up again." He thought the matter had been taken care of.

Alderman Bill Baker said motel owners could co-operate by phoning in and laying charges.

The letter from motel owners said things are quiet when police patrol, and then suggested a plain clothes officer of the law would strike fear into the hearts of those committing infractions.

The problem will again be discussed with the local detachment of the RCMP.

WEED PROBLEM IN CITY PUT OVER TO NEXT YEAR

A letter to City Council Monday night from city resident Mrs. W. V. Blacklock deplored weed conditions in the city.

She asked if the City employed a weed inspector.

The letter suggested that the "$1,600 saved by the Lions Football Club not coming will be well spent on killing weeds or we will all feel like letting our gardens go the same way."

City Council referred the problem to the 1962 council.

City Aware Of Smelly Problem

City Council is not sitting still on the smelly subject of the pig farm north of the City.

Mayor R. F. Parkinson said the stench, which permeates cars and homes in the Shops Capri area generally and travellers into and out of the City like a reproach, gets worse and worse.

Mayor Parkinson called it a "disgrace to the area."

"Some action has to be taken, and will be taken before too long," he said. He pointed out that Council is following up a number of leads in an attempt to rid the area of the offensive pig farm completely.

"We would like the public to know that we are aware of the problem—couldn't help being aware," said Mayor Parkinson.

Mrs. Frank Ross Likely Chancellor Candidate

VICTORIA (Special To The Courier) It appears very much as if Mrs. Frank MacKenzies will be new chancellor of University of British Columbia, succeeding the late A. E. Dal Grauer.

If so, it will be an excellent choice. I do not think, but I cannot be sure until I check, which will take time, that there is another woman university chancellor in Canada.

Mrs. Ross, born in Rossland, and still not 60, has already had a distinguished career. She was the only woman war-time government administrator in Ottawa; she was in charge of conserving precious fats and oils.

For five years, from 1955 to 1960, she was mistress here of Government House, when her husband was the Lieut. governor.

She's a UBC graduate, has received many UBC honors, has been on both Senate and Board of Governors.

NO FIGUREHEAD

A university chancellor is not merely a figure head, as many people appear to believe. The chancellor is the presiding officer of the Board of Governors, which runs the finances of a university.

Mrs. Ross is a born organizer, a hard worker, a good financier. Once she makes up her mind that something must be done, it's as good as done.

When she first went to Government House she horrified the staff by refusing breakfast in bed, rising at 6, getting right to work, and staying on the go 18 hours a day. She disliked pink teas, wouldn't have Government House parties for only the elite, which annoyed the elite.

When the new Government House was building Mrs. Ross took over, to the irritation of many people, who felt she should have played the helpless dowager, letting people who wanted to feel important, take over the entire job. But Mrs. Ross, because she was the lady of the house, felt it her duty to know everything that was going on. Not one detail would she let escape her.

WIDOWED YOUNG

She was very young when she was left a widow with two small children, and she had to get out and earn the family living in Ottawa, but she had the education, and the ability, to take important positions.

An chateau of Government House she met and entertained some of the world's most distinguished people—the Queen herself, Princess Margaret, the Princess Royal, Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Alexandra of Kent. She and her husband went to Princess Margaret's wedding.

part of the army's Young Soldier Training Plan. The Plan provides the student-soldiers with the opportunity to train during the summer holidays so as not to interfere with school studies.

Britain Concerned About Future Of Great Bases

The rapidly changing national pattern of the world brings with it some additional problems for the countries concerned. One of these problems centres around defence bases in a number of countries. This has caused concern to the United States, France and Britain. The U.S. base in now unfriendly Cuba has been the subject of much comment in recent months.

Now the British government and its defence chiefs are greatly concerned about the future of some of the overseas military bases which are essential to Britain's global defence plans. There is a definite reason to believe that in the not too distant future, some of these bases may not be available as key points in the strategy of the defence ministry in meeting commitments in the middle and far east areas.

Three of the most important bases at the present time are those in Cyprus, Kenya and Singapore. Yet these are the bases which are causing the most concern so far as their future is concerned. This concern arises from the rapidly growing political tensions in these areas, and the grave problem of the cost of maintaining the bases.

Britain has definite pact commitments in the middle and far east. In the former, she has responsibilities to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. In the latter, she is committed to the Central Treaty Organization. In order to fulfil the obligations inherent in these commitments, Britain at the present time is dependent to a large extent on the free use of the bases in Cyprus, Kenya and Singapore. The fact that vast sums have been spent, and will still have to be spent on these bases, is being weighed against the possibility that in the not too distant future political developments might result in these bases being denied to Britain.

Defence planning staffs are now making a complete study of the whole situation, particularly with relation to the heavy capital costs which would have to be included in the defence estimates for next year.

In the case of Kenya, that country is moving closer to complete independence. It is bound to come within the next year or two, at the most. This raises some uncertainty as to whether the African leaders of an independent Kenya would be willing to allow British bases to remain on their territory when they are fully independent.

Much money is being spent on two bases in Kenya, at Kahawa and Gilgil. At these, an improvement program to cost close to $30 million is in progress, with two-thirds of that amount already spent. The defence problem is whether to complete this program and take a chance on the base being allowed to remain, or to call a halt.

The government has become greatly concerned with the report that President Makarios of Cyprus was ready to obstruct British troop movements to Kuwait if the Arab League had branded Britain as an aggressor. In recent weeks, the water pipelines to the Cyprus bases have been subjected to sabotage. There is an uneasy feeling about the future value of the Cyprus bases which were the subject of so much controversy.

There are also possible detrimental political developments at Singapore. There is a possibility of Singapore joining in a federation with Malaya. Recently, the Malayan government expressed itself as being in favor of allowing British bases to be maintained in Singapore and Malaya, but subject to an agreement much like that which was reached with Cyprus.

It has been noted with concern in official circles, however, that in the early part of 1961 the Malayan government opposed the possible movement of British troops from Malayan territory to intervene in the troubled situation in Malaya.

The key point is that in these three instances, troop movements might be seriously hindered in case of emergency according to the whims of the governments of these areas. That is the reason why the defence chiefs are taking a good look at the future of Britain's overseas military bases and commitments.

Slight Case of Innocence

Time was, a few weeks ago, when public opinion in the United States was deeply aroused by strikes and work stoppages at Cape Canaveral and other key defence projects in that country. Union featherbedding was fantastically wasteful and some unionized workers at defence bases were pulling down so much overtime that their pay cheques not infrequently topped the $1,000 mark weekly.

Now comes word from Washington that there hasn't been a strike at Cape Canaveral in over a month. In fact, according to a government labor expert in Washington, President Kennedy's missile site labor commission has worked wonders. "They (union workers) just didn't realize how important our missile and space program was. They didn't realize that we are in a race for the preservation of our American way of life. These aren't a bunch of disloyal American citizens; they are just a bunch of people who didn't know what the score was."

Poor innocents! At least that's what Washington's government labor expert would like people to believe of the racketeers who have been pulling at U.S. defence bases. The truth more probably is that the outburst of popular indignation against labor for what had been happening at missile bases has just plain scared some sense into the union officials chiefly concerned.

San Francisco Of North Was Dawson In Nineties

DAWSON, Y.T. (AP) — They called Dawson the San Francisco of the north and for one improbable year it almost deserved the title.

Still short of its third birthday, the ephemeral metropolis on the mudflats in 1898 sported fancy dance halls, posh hotels, casinos, theatres, innumerable saloons, steam heat, electricity, a telephone system, churches and church choirs, drama circles, fashionable and not so fashionable ladies, restaurants with string ensembles and vintage wines, vaudeville—even movies just three years after the invention of projected film.

It was a respectable catalogue of amenities for the wilderness town sprouting at the confluence of the Yukon and Klondike, within the shadow of the Arctic Circle, where 24 months earlier there had been nothing at all.

SHORT BOOM

Dawson's grandeur was as short-lived as the bizarre phenomenon which created it, the Klondike gold rush. The town reached its peak from the summer of 1898 to the summer of 1899, with a population of 30,000 to 40,000, making it the largest Canadian city west of Winnipeg. That fall, 8,000 persons left Dawson for good, and a long decline began.

INSIDE YOU AND YOURS

Tale Of Sore Tail Bones

Dr BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

You're neither dog nor cow, but your guppy-sized tail bone can cause a whale of a problem!

You may slip and hit your tailbone—or coccyx—against the edge of a step or curbstone. Dropping kerplunk onto a hard chair whacks the coccyx with a wooden mallet. A few hours of slouching or sitting on a wooden bench can trigger tail bone trouble.

The coccyx can break or slip out of joint. You may tear the tough ligament linking the tail bone and spine higher up.

Your coccyx feels bone-breaking pain. Twinges may shoot across the buttocks and down the leg. Toileting often forces the sad tail bone out of place and brings on new agonies.

TESTS AND X-RAYS

Your doctor will test the coccyx to see whether it's tender, rough, extra-loose or bent at an odd angle. X-ray pictures may not pick out the few fractured tail bones, but they do show where the coccyx is out of joint.

After the tail bone's back in place, the doctor will strap your lower back and upper buttocks. Or he'll suggest a corset or belt to keep the coccyx from moving.

mer of 1898 to the summer of 1899, with a population of 30,000 to 40,000, making it the largest Canadian city west of Winnipeg. That fall, 8,000 persons left Dawson for good, and a long decline began.

George Washington Carmack staked the first Klondike claim 65 years ago last Thursday, on Aug. 17, 1896—still revered as "discovery day" on the Yukon. Today, Dawson is a quiet community in a town several sizes too large. The 1956 census counted about 800 noses, and there has been no threat of a population explosion since.

Within two years of its founding, main street lots sold for as much as $5,000. Real estate values have visibly softened, for today you find plenty of weed-choked, vacant lots alternating with abandoned buildings, old outfitting stores with pommous false fronts, listing log cabins, a decaying post office and an ancient saloon.

HEADED NORTH

It seems hard to realize now that Dawson once held the imagination of the civilized world and uncivilized a part of it as 100,000 men and women set out hell-bent for the Klondike. Fewer than half got there.

Via Alaska, they swarmed through Dyea across the lofty Chilkoot; through Skagway across the awful White Pass; from Valdez across a murderous glacier; from Edmonton over a route that existed only in promoters' puffs. "Hell can't be worse than this trail," one goldseeker scribbled on a tree. "I'll chance it." Whereupon he killed himself.

Meanwhile in 1897, when the first 80 sourdoughs reached San Francisco and Seattle with their fortunes from the Klondike, an astonishing flotilla was pressed into service to transport the clamoring cheechakos—the greenhorns—to Alaska.

There were converted coal barges and ancient paddle-wheelers, leaking coastal vessels and creaky tramps, crammed beyond capacity with men and beasts under conditions reminiscent of slave transports, for which privilege the passengers paid $1,000 a ticket. One pilot ran his ship on the rocks because outfits were piled too high on deck for him to see. Some ships blew up, caught fire, foundered and sank. And still the real horror lurked beyond, at the passes.

On White Pass, the veneer of humanity blistered and peeled; so many pack animals were worked to death there that many years later, a memorial was erected to the slaughtered beasts at Dead Horse Gulch.

Only a comparative handful got through to Dawson that first winter, in 1897, and of these, 900 had to turn around and flee back outside, for food was running out in the city. Gold soon was the cheapest commodity in town; a kent of bent and blackened nails brought $800; an onion cost $5; an egg $1.

Memories cluster as thickly here as the fireweed on the banks of the Yukon. They are kept green by a dwindling contingent of oldtimers whose headquarters is the two-storey log house of the Yukon Order of Pioneers.

OTTAWA REPORT

Quebec Vote Under Study

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

With an election in the offing, and bearing in mind reported diminution in Quebec support for the Conservative Party, political strategists here are calculating once again the effect of the Quebec vote in a nation-wide election.

At the 1958 balloting, the Conservative party received 50 per cent of the Quebec vote, whilst the Liberal party attracted 46 per cent. The split gave the Conservatives 50 seats, and 25 to the Liberals.

Three months later, a poll of public opinion showed that the gap had widened, with Conservative support soaring to 62 per cent of Quebec support and the Liberals falling off to 38 per cent.

Now, three years later, the Liberals are in the lead with a reported 45 per cent, with 32 per cent of Quebecers supporting the Conservatives, and the Social Credit party in Quebec has soared from one-half of one per cent of the Quebec vote in the 1958 election, to a stated 19 per cent of voters today.

On the basis of this latest poll of opinion, it is apparent that the Conservatives would lose some of their 50 seats. Liberals hope they would retain no more than 5. Conservatives believe they would hold at least 30.

THE BALANCE OF POWER

Can a party win an election without substantial support from Quebec? That question has teased the Tories ever since French-Canada was successfully sold the idea by Liberal politicians that the Conservatives are "anti-Quebec," as shown by the execution of the French-Indian Louis Riel in 1885, after he had led two uprisings of the Metis in the West.

It took many years after Riel's death for the Liberals to whip Quebec into an artificial fury of nationalism. Two years later the Tories still won more seats than the Liberals in Quebec; six years later Quebec split 35 seats for the Tories, 30 for the Liberals. After that, the Conservatives did not again win a majority of Quebec's constituencies until John Diefenbaker swept the province in 1958.

Quebec provides only 75 of the 265 seats in our House of Commons. It is therefore quite obvious that a political party is able to amass enough support from other regions to form a government, whilst yet receiving only negligible support from Quebec.

In the 24 general elections since Confederation, six have seen a majority of Quebec M.P.s on the losing side. In no less than eight elections our largest province, Ontario, which now sends 85 M.P.s to Ottawa, has found a majority of its M.P.s on the losing side.

Five of the last six electoral victories of the Conservative party have been won in spite of the Quebec majority—sometimes a substantial majority—being aligned against that party. In fact as recently as 1957, we saw a Conservative victory aided by only 9 Conservatives elected in Quebec.

UNITY URGED

That election, in 1957, typified the disaster to Canada and to the political party concerned of any one racial group forming a predominant phalanx in support of one party. The Liberal Opposition in Parliament was virtually a French-Canadian party, with 63 Quebec M.P.s plus a number of French-Canadians from other provinces forming the overwhelming majority.

Such a situation gives French Canada an undue importance in setting the policy as framed in the party caucus; worse, it gives Quebec too small a voice in the councils of government. In the cabinet formed after that election, the representation from our second largest province was the least effective provincial voice.

Thus history, as well as mathematics, shows that Quebec support is not necessary to enable a political party to form the government. But it is abundantly clear that Quebec voters have outgrown the old artificial prejudices and think for themselves in their own interests. Far from being a one-party province, Quebec today contains convinced supporters of not two, but certainly three and perhaps even four political parties, in significant proportions.

who can be a dentist?

It takes a special man or woman to meet the challenge of a dental career. He must be willing to spend long hours, both in training and every day after he receives his doctor's degree. He must have sound judgment sense, and a physical dexterity to perform the tasks required of him. And he must have a sincere sympathy for, and urge to help, his fellow man.

This is the dentist's lifetime duty: the care and protection of his community. And from his community, he will enjoy the rewards of his efforts: the satisfaction of healing, recognition by his neighbours, patients, and fellow doctors, and the opportunity to help more and more people as time goes on.

British Columbia needs dentists — needs the kind of man who will give his time and service to caring for others. Are you able to meet the challenge — and willing? Then write for our pamphlet, Dentistry As A Career.

A MESSAGE TO OWNER-ELECTORS

RE: BY-LAW NO. 2278

On August 30th, the ratepayers of the City of Kelowna will vote on a bylaw to authorize the city to borrow $290,000 to purchase the electrical distribution system of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company within the city limits, and certain attendant expenses.

This purchase of the West Kootenay facilities is one phase of the boundary extension program and the purchase will be a logical conclusion of this particular aspect of extending the city boundaries.

The agreed purchase price of the West Kootenay facilities has been set at $240,990.69.

This figure was arrived at after lengthy negotiations between city officials and representatives of the company.

A complete inventory of the physical assets of the company, which it is proposed to purchase, was completed and a fair price mutually agreed upon.

Members of the city council and city officials visited Trail and inspected all documents and records relative to the method of arriving at the purchase price of the system.

All negotiations including the price has been approved by both the Department of Municipal Affairs and the Public Utilities Commission.

Under the provisions of the Municipal Act it is imperative that this bylaw be presented to the ratepayers immediately. Voting day, therefore has been set for August 30th.

All owner-electors whose names appear on the voters list as of September 30th, 1960, are eligible to vote.

Voting will take place at the Kelowna War Memorial Arena Centennial Hall on Wednesday, August 30th, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m.

To ascertain whether or not you are on the voters' list, phone the City Hall during business hours.

This bylaw deserves your support.

French Canadian Teen-Ager Conforms To A Point Only

LAC - A - LA - TORTUE, Que. (CP) — The nightly hop is one of the favorite pastimes of teen-agers in this St. Maurice River valley village, 100 miles northeast of Montreal.

Every evening shortly after 7 p.m. youngsters from the village and surrounding farms arrive in groups at a restaurant-dance hall on the main highway, a few miles outside of town.

They stream in by car, on motorcycles, or on foot, to take part in the dancing sessions.

Similar scenes occur in other parts of Canada and the United States, and in most cases the heroes of the night are the Presleys, Boones and Sinatras.

But the French-speaking teen-agers in Quebec's rural communities are set apart from their English-speaking counterparts in other areas because of their different backgrounds.

When they discuss the relative merits of pop singers, their conversation is peppered with names of French singers such as Paul Noel, Fernand Gignac and Saché Distel.

Another thing that distinguishes them from teen-agers elsewhere is a beach game called "petanque." It's an old French invention, a modification of the Italian game "bocce."

The object is to throw heavy metal balls close to a smaller wooden ball. The one who gets closest wins a point.

At the end of the game the losers chip in to buy the winner a sundae, a soda, or a couple of hamburgers.

CHEQUE-CREDIT

from Scotia BANK

gives you extra money to spend but helps keep your budget

SCOTIA PLAN CHEQUE-CREDIT is The Bank of Nova Scotia's system of "revolving credit". This is how the plan works.

1. You select the monthly payment that you can afford and then apply for twelve times that amount.
2. When your application has been approved you receive a book of special personalized cheques.
3. You are not confined to spending in specified stores. Your cheques are good for anything you need, anytime, anywhere in Canada.
4. You pay only on the amount of credit actually used. The charge on Cheque-Credit accounts is $6.00 per year for each $100 borrowed. You do not pay anything for the money held in reserve for your account.
5. Each month you will receive a statement of cheques written, payments to be made, and the amount of credit still open.
6. Your monthly payment is approximately one-twelfth of the amount of credit you have used, so far.

Each payment you make rebuilds your Cheque-Credit reserve, giving you a continual supply of credit.

Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit is life-insured, too, at no extra cost to you. Find out today all about Cheque-Credit at your nearest Scotiabank branch.

How to determine your total Cheque-Credit

IF YOU CAN REPAY	YOUR TOTAL CREDIT IS
$20.00 a month	$240.00
$30.00 a month	$360.00
$40.00 a month	$480.00
$50.00 a month	$600.00
$75.00 a month	$900.00

Retail Sales Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—Retail sales in Canada in June rose by 4.3 per cent to an estimated $1,485,855,000 from $1,425,063,000 in the corresponding month of 1950, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today.

The June gain—along with a small increase of 2 per cent in January-March and a rise of 2.5 per cent in May—more than offset a decrease of 5.2 per cent in April. The result is that sales in the first half of 1951 rose by a slight 4 per cent to $7,881,917,000 from $7,855,128,000 a year ago.

Sales in the Atlantic provinces in June advanced 2.6 per cent. They rose seven per cent in Quebec, 4.5 per cent in Ontario, 6.1 per cent in Alberta and 2.4 per cent in British Columbia. However, they fell .8 per cent in Manitoba and one per cent in Saskatchewan.

In the January-June period, sales were up 7 per cent in the Atlantic provinces, 2.8 per cent in Quebec and 2.2 per cent in Alberta. They were down .5 per cent in Ontario and Manitoba, 7 per cent in Saskatchewan and 2.8 per cent in British Columbia.

Wild Race Riot Hits UK Town

MIDDLESBROUGH, England (AP)—Police hauled 36 rioters into court here today after 48 hours of wild racial violence by mobs of yelling whites in the colored quarter of this Yorkshire town.

Police baton-charged 500 shouting rioters in a brawl that left five constables and five civilians injured on the sidewalks.

The violence flared Saturday after an 18-year-old white youth was stabbed to death in the grimy dockland quarter of the town. A colored man later was charged with his murder.

Gypsy Rose Sheds Wraps

NEW YORK (AP)—Gypsy Rose Lee is putting on her black lace dainties again—for musical comedy instead of burlesque.

"I thought I'd packed 'em away forever," remarks the demure former queen of genteel strip-tease. "I'm getting some back from museums."

Still curious by stock, Miss Lee has signed a contract for a 12-month tour of 16 cities including Toronto and Montreal as leading lady of The Threepenny Opera.

Opening lead—queen of clubs.

If declarer has a sure way of making a contract, he would be foolish to adopt some other line of play that might place the contract in jeopardy. The fact is, though, that players sometimes do this very thing, although it must be said in their defense that they do not do this consciously.

Here is a simple case that shows how this may come about. West led a club against three notrump. Declarer won the queen with the king and took a heart finesse. The jack of the king, East returned a club.

South played low and West won the nine and continued with the jack to establish his suit. Declarer took it with the ace and led a heart to the jack. West showing out. There was now nothing left for South to do but rely upon the diamonds.

When he led the queen and finessed, West took the king, cashed his clubs, and the contract went down one.

Granted that South had bad luck in the hand—he lost two finesses and the hearts broke badly—he still had only himself to blame for the result. The heart finesse was totally unnecessary and should not have been attempted.

Declarer had a 100% chance to make the contract from the word go. Upon winning the club lead, he should enter dummy with a spade and play the queen of diamonds and finesse. It is of no great importance to him whether the finesse wins or loses.

Win or lose, he is assured of four diamond tricks, which, together with his other high cards, brings him to a minimum of nine tricks. In fact, if everything lies favorably, he can make thirteen tricks, though that is not important.

What is important is that the early heart finesse opens the door to defeat, and hence should be avoided. Establishment of the diamond suit guarantees the contract, come what may, and declarer should not be diverted from this goal by the early opportunity to take a heart finesse.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Most persons will be receptive to new ideas now; this is the time to put them over. The p.m. promises to be exceptionally pleasant for social gatherings, group activities of any sort.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates fine prospects for you.

During the next 12 months, occupational matters will be under especially good influences, and you should profit handsomely through work which calls for endurance.

Recognition for efforts along these lines is indicated during October. During November, finances will be under generally good aspects, so that you should find many of the pressures of the past lifting.

Domestic relationships will be governed by generous vibrations for the balance of the year, except for a brief period in November. Avoid strain and nervous tension in October and look for a good business break in December.

A child born on this day will be active and energetic, but may become too enthusiastic over dubious projects.

Spahn Gets Tumultuous Homecoming

BOSTON (AP) — Nineteen years ago Warren Spahn began a storied major league pitching career in Boston.

The 40-year-old southpaw with Milwaukee Braves had a tumultuous "homecoming" at Fenway Park Monday night as the Braves defeated Boston Red Sox 4-1 in an exhibition game.

The game, for the benefit of children's cancer research, was played in fog and drizzle but nothing marred the series of standing ovations Spahn received.

True to his promise to the stricken children, Spahn pitched a perfect inning as the Braves' starter, though he had gone the full nine frames Sunday extending his remarkable record to 302 victories.

Spahn had said he would pitch "if I can lift my arm." He struck out two men and retired Pete Runnels on a grounder.

Spahn broke into major league baseball with the old Boston Braves in 1942. He hurled against New York Giants and allowed no hits in two-thirds of an inning in relief.

CASEY FAVORS MICK

Tough Go For Maris, Mantle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris brought their home run derby to the Playboy Field handball tonight but there was no assurance they would add to their laurels.

There have been 177 home runs knocked out of Los Angeles Angels' home field so far this season but the two Yankee stars have hit only three of them in the six games they have played here. New York plays three games against the Angels in this final Los Angeles series.

No less an authority than former Yankee manager Casey Stengel says that if the Yankee sluggers don't break Babe Ruth's home run mark of 60 it will be because of Los Angeles pitching.

The American League para in Los Angeles is likely to see power hitters such as Maris and Mantle, with left-center and right-center only 345 feet to the wall. The American League season record for home runs is 200, set at Detroit in 1939. With 177 already hit and the season a little more then two-thirds gone, the league record seems certain to fall, and the major league mark of 210 established at Cincinnati in 1937, surely is in jeopardy.

FAVORS MICKIE. Stengel says he is inclined to favor Mantle to beat Ruth's record, if only because Mickey bats both right and left-handed.

Ole Case thinks the Yanks have just about the best punch ever. He says: "They can't walk Maris for Mantle. They can't walk 'em both because of Moose Skowron and Elston Howard right back of 'em, and this Howard is having a great year."

Maris and Mantle will face increasing psychological pressure as they close in on the record.

If the New York Yankee sluggers come down to their 15th game with a shot at the record they also will have to overcome some formidable physical barriers.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick has ruled Ruth's record must be broken in New York's first 154 decisions, plus ties, to be "official." After that, because of the expanded 162-game American League schedule this season, any new mark will be followed by an asterisk in the record books.

The Yanks played 155 games, including one tie, when Ruth hit 60 homers in 1927. His final home run came in game No. 154. The 1961 Yanks also have played one tie. Barring postponements, Maris and Mantle will reach the deadline in the first three games of a four-game series in Baltimore Sept. 10-21.

Reds In Crucial Series With 3rd Place Giants

A Herculean eight-game program over a six-day stretch is the next test for Cincinnati Reds, leading the National League by three games after a hectic period of playing ring-around-rosies for first place with Los Angeles Dodgers.

Reds, who had fallen 2½ games back last week in their season-long battle with the Dodgers for the top rung, begin their crucial period at home tonight with a doubleheader against third-place San Francisco Giants.

The sizzling Giants, who have won 10 of their last 12, will stay at Crosley Field for games Wednesday and Thursday, then Dodgers will move in for a showdown four-game set in the final meeting of the year between the feuding pennant contenders.

Meanwhile, Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle will continue their assault on Babe Ruth's home run record of 60 in 1927 as the American League-leading New York Yankees invade Los Angeles for a three-game set with the Angels.

Ridan Hailed As Greatest Since Citation

CHICAGO (AP)—Ridan is being hailed as the greatest race horse since Citation and few who have seen the Nantahala colt run dare dispute such praise.

Ridden by Bill Hartack, who came out of a mild slump with five winners, Ridan scored his sixth victory in as many starts Monday when he captured the Prairie State stake at Arlington Park in a breeze.

The $10,700 winner's purse boosted Ridan's earnings to $155,800. The crowd was so confident that the largest show pool in Chicago history showed a minus of $10,874.21. A total of $178,069 was bet on the race and $133,512 was on Ridan.

Fighter In Serious Condition

CHICAGO (AP)—Michael E. Conner of Detroit, who fights under the name of Baby Face, was reported in serious condition in a hospital today with a brain concussion.

Conner, 23-year-old lightweight, collapsed shortly after leaving the ring at Vogue Arena, where he dropped a four-round decision Monday night to Johnny White of Fort Wayne, Ind. Conner, a Negro, was not knocked down during the fight. White outboxed Conner 130 to 132.

Joseph Triner, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, said Conner appeared to have absorbed "nothing out of the ordinary" in punches from White.

VANCOUVER (CP)—An old-fashioned duel between punters and receivers kept a crowd of 26,863 fans limp at Empire Stadium Monday night as British Columbia Lions and Montreal Alouettes battled to a 7-7 draw in an interlocking Canadian Football League game.

Twice in the last 10 minutes Lion halfbacks Bob Jeter and Willie Fleming ran the ball out of the B.C. end zone to prevent Alouette singles.

Twice in the last five minutes the Alouettes got the ball out of their end zone, the last time on a returned punt by Canadian end Gino Berretta.

The result left both clubs winless. The Alouettes lost earlier this season to Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos. The Lions have been beaten by Ottawa Rough Riders, Hamilton Tiger-Cats and the Eskimos.

SCORING CAME EARLY. The teams did their scoring in the first quarter, the Lions taking advantage of a Montreal penalty for roughing kicker.

Next Beaumont to score on a seven-yard pass from quarterback Jim Walden to fullback Don Vico and the Alouettes fumbled into a touchdown a few plays later.

Halfback Meco Poliziani got the Alouette touchdown from three yards out six plays after Bob Belak had fumbled a Berretta punt at the Lions' 33-yard line. George Grant converted the Lion touchdown and Bill Bewley got Montreal's extra point.

It was a hard-knocking defensive game, but the Lions had the best scoring opportunities. Twice from inside the Alouette 15-yard line they lost the ball on downs.

The Alouettes' best showing, largely on the passing of rookie quarterback Nels Yarbrough, early in the fourth quarter and their drive to the Lion 13-yard line opened the way for the exciting finish.

MISSIS FIELD GOAL. Bewley tried a field goal from the 13 but was wide. Jeter took the ball 16 yards inside the end zone and ran it out to the one.

A few plays later, Berretta, a native of Montreal, punted into the end zone and Fleming scooted out to the four.

A pass interception by Vico at the Lion 35 gave the Lions two chances for a game-winning single. On the first, Beaumont punted five yards deep from the Alouette 42. Gene Gaines ran it out to the six-yard line.

On the second, last play, Beaumont kicked into the end zone on second down from the Alouette 28. Berretta booted the ball back to Beaumont at the 25. He fumbled and the Alouettes took over.

Through Sunday's game, the Tigers showed an increase of 255,000 and the Red Sox were up 245,000. All other teams were under last year's figures.

The major leagues drew 1,076,166 paid customers last week, lifting the 1961 total to 15,013,116—seven per cent under last year.

Reds, Tigers Get Big Boost In Attendance

NEW YORK (AP)—Surprisingly good showings in the baseball pennant races by the American League Detroit Tigers and Cincinnati Reds of the National League boosted their home attendance this season. Both have already surpassed their 1960 totals.

The Tigers have played before 1,340,930 customers and the Reds to 762,520. Last season, Detroit's entire aggregate was 1,167,669 and Cincinnati's 663,486.

Club owner Walter O'Malley denied that Monday, however, saying: "Alston doesn't need a vote of confidence. But maybe the team does. If so, here it is. A big personal vote for the Dodgers, who are tied for first place in the loss column."

Crafty Johnny Kasha of Vernon won the top pitching honors, winning eight of 10 decisions and compiling an earned-run average of 1.93. He struck out 62 batters and walked 39 in 93 innings of baseball.

Kasha easily won the team championship by winning 19 of 24 games. Oliver and Vernon tied for second with 15-9 records and Kamloops finished fourth with a 14-10 record.
